

Kris Coleman

The Balancer

DISC Profile: Conscientious

The Quick and Dirty...

As an accountant, I've earned my title as the Balancer because I won't rest until the books balance and the work is done to my high-quality standards. Now I get to help people find the right balance for them in their work.

I believe in that, too, because when I'm not working, I'm a free spirit who loves to explore new cities, listen to live music, share a great porter with friends, and make a mean cinnamon roll.

The Full Story...

You may have already spoken with me since I'm often the first voice you hear when you call our office. And I'm definitely the person to call if you have billing or process questions about your assessments or other programs.

Prior to joining the team, I worked in accounting for many companies including an animal hospital and brewery in Buffalo, a private high school in New York City, Sugarbush Resort in Vermont, and Denali Park Resorts in Alaska. Isn't that cool? I even managed a retail store in Florida! It was through these experiences that I became a master of planning and organization. Today, it's my job to make sure our clients get the best service possible.

I love our team and our customers. Thanks to you, we're Diamond Award-winning Everything DiSC Authorized Partners and WorkPlace Big Five Master Trainers. We design custom surveys and 360° feedback assessments for Fortune 50 and Great Place to Work Top 10 organizations. And over 70% of our Lead Ignited graduates have advanced to higher level positions. This year, we launched Fabulous Together so professional women can get the coaching, connections, and confidence they need to have successful careers and fabulous lives.

I received my Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Studies from the State University of New York College at Buffalo. I live in Buffalo with my husband, along with our adopted greyhounds.

